Three-Dimensional DUI Defense

If you've been arrested for a DUI, you need a three-dimensional law firm to help you, one that understands that law isn't the whole solution to your situation. To me, that's 2-dimensional thinking. Law is a large and crucial part of the solution, and the Reynolds Defense Firm is fantastic at DUI law, but as complex and nuanced as the law may be, law, by itself, is still flat, like a piece of paper.

The law doesn't care about you or your family. The law doesn't care if you go to jail or lose your job. The law doesn't have your back. The Reynolds Defense Firm does though, and that human element – that essential third dimension – that's what gives us our depth; that's what allows us to be so successful in helping the good people we work with.

I hope you never need to call us, but if you or someone you believe in has been arrested for a DUI, please call us today.

The Reynolds Defense Firm – we're solid, we're here if you need us, and we are very good at what we do.

Book Review—What Do You Do With An Idea?

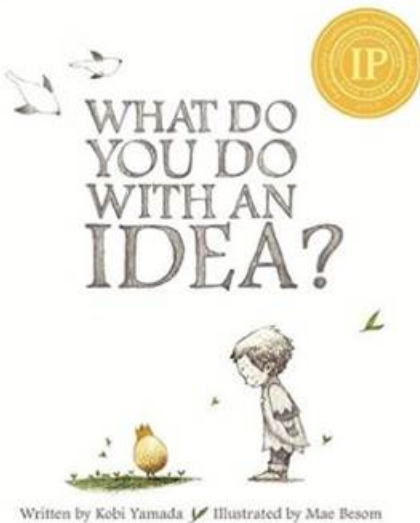

We all have ideas - ideas for a new product, ideas to improve a process, or maybe ideas to use an existing idea for a new purpose. As I think about it, some of the happiest people I know, those who seem to get the most enjoyment out of life, are those who have taken their idea to the next step – they've acted on their ideas. So why don't more of us do that same thing? Why don't more of us follow through with our ideas?

Perhaps, it is because having the perfect 'incubator' in place – the right combination of idea, timing, ability and desire – is rare. More likely though, it is because we think we need to have the perfect 'incubator' in place before we try... and so we never try. And if we never try, we miss out on the chance to make the world a better place.

I was recently given this book, and I think it has a great message for kids and adults alike. I think it may be my new go-to gift for people I care about. Here is the book teaser:

"What do you do with an idea? Especially an idea that's different, or daring, or just a little wild? Do you hide it? Walk away from it? This is a story for anyone, at any age, who's ever had an idea that seemed a little too big, too odd, too difficult. It's a story to inspire you to welcome that idea, to give it some space to grow, and to see what happens next. Because your idea isn't going anywhere. In fact, it's just getting started"

So, read this book, act on your ideas, and just maybe we'll change the world for the better.

What is The Blue Binder Project?

One of the tools we use that makes us a three dimensional law firm is The Blue Binder Project (BBP). The BBP is a four-week coaching program designed to help our clients identify and address whatever is making them feel stuck in life.

Typically, being arrested usually means there is something deeper going on in their life that isn't working the way they need it to. The steps our clients take to improve their lives translate into very real results that make sure that whatever brought him or her before a judge will never happen again, and we all share that ultimate goal.

For more info about the Blue Binder Project, please contact our Firm Liaison sarah@reynoldsdefensefirm.com or check out our video <https://youtu.be/YJFS0CGKfHs>

Let us introduce one of our Blue Binder coaches, Kris Cavanaugh. Kris is a licensed professional counselor and certified alcohol and drug counselor. Her experience in helping people, along with the breadth of her professional knowledge, makes her a great coach. Her work with our clients combines encouragement and accountability, and our clients have had amazing results in working with her.

Kris is originally from Washington DC, but has called Portland home for 20 years. She is very active with her three almost grown up kids, enjoying all things sports: hiking, camping, horseback riding, baseball, soccer, and basketball. When the Oregon rain forces her inside, she makes silver jewelry and has tried her hand at making hand crafted body lotions and creams.

Check out some of the ways our clients describe how we'd been solid for them:

My experience was great! I am very grateful to the RDF team. Richard was fantastic. He definitely exceeded my expectations. The whole team was very helpful and kind. I will recommend RDF to people I know.—T.T., Client

Your BBP program is so great...Thank you. Y'all don't know what a blessing you are.—L.D, Family member of client

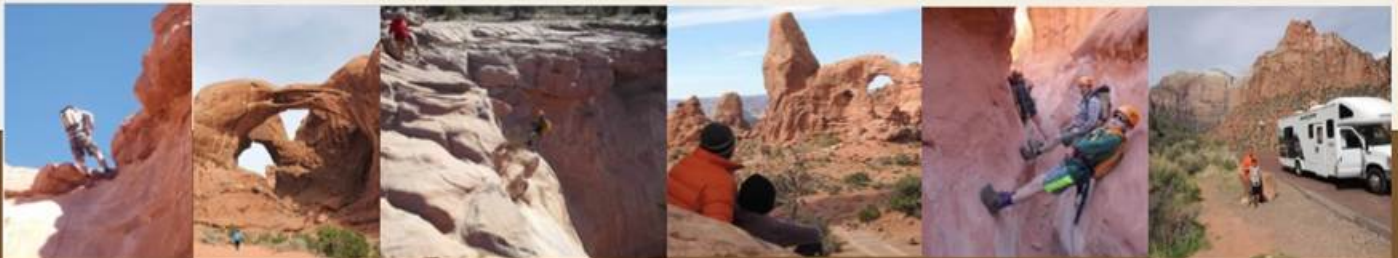

I'm so happy I chose RDF—I've never heard of a firm being interested in the well-being of the client way after the legal stuff is over.—M.K.—client

What's New with Me and My Own

The Reynolds family had some great adventures this spring break! Adventures that National Lampoon's Clark Griswold would admire. Adventures that included driving a 27-foot RV around and through southern Utah's absolutely beautiful national and state parks. Yes, that's right – we drove about 1200 miles over seven days in a 270 square foot apartment, and not only did we keep from strangling one another, it was a truly fantastic experience! I had no idea how beautiful that area is.

One of the highlights was going on a guided canyoneering trip. This involved Tammy, Jack, and myself rappelling down into the start of a slot-canyon (glad to report that my first experience going down vertical cliffs in a controlled way was successful) and hiking/climbing/rappelling on down through the 2 or 3-mile canyon until we hiked out at the bottom. The beautiful sandstone walls went from 30 to 300 feet above us, and narrowed down to just a few feet apart at places. Though not hard, it required full focus and was a completely new experience for me – what a great brain recharge!

I wouldn't do this with your family without a guide, and I can't say enough about the fantastic guide we had. If you are ever in the area (and it is worth going there just for the canyoneering) please call Rick Green. He and his wife Amy own Excursions of Escalante guide service (www.excursionsofescalante.com). He is the expert in the area, and he truly is great at what he does. When you call him, please let him know that you heard about him from us, and perhaps he'll take an awesome detour and show you an area with fossilized dinosaur tracks and tail marks where the dino's tail dragged in the mud millions of years ago. The idea that you are literally standing where a dinosaur walked is mind-expanding all by itself!
